

VIRTUAL PANEL DISCUSSION

Cross-Disciplinary Perspectives on Inequality

Cross-Disciplinary Perspectives on Inequality is a new round-table discussion series introduced by CIREQ. Each event in the series will bring together a panel of social scientists from various disciplines to discuss aspects of inequality from different perspectives. It is open to everyone interested in the topic.

Panel Discussion on *Redistribution and Fiscal Policies

November 26, 2021, 11:30 – 13:00 pm ET

Organizers : Vincent Arel-Bundock (Département de science politique, Université de Montréal), Baris Kaymak (Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, Département de sciences économiques, Université de Montréal and CIREQ), and Markus Poschke (Department of Economics, McGill University and CIREQ).

The panel will feature a discussion of recent changes in redistributive tax policies, the role of inequality and political preferences in shaping these policies, and an outlook towards the future.

Panel Members

Charlotte Cavallé (Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy, University of Michigan)

Research Interests : the dynamics of popular attitudes towards redistributive social policies at a time of rising inequality, high fiscal stress and high levels of immigration

Florian Scheuer (University of Zurich, Department of Economics)

Research Interests : public finance, taxation, inequality, public policy, political economy

REGISTER HERE

Deadline: November 25 at noon